COMMISSIONER PREWITT

Is Relentless in His Work for the Insured Public.

Mr. Prewitt is satisfied with the action of the Legislative Committee so far as they have gone, reporting the bill requiring insurance companies to make annual accountings after the third year, and a distribution to policy holders after the fifth year. Other steps will be taken. He is assisted in his arguments by the Legislature by Commissioners Zeno M. Host, of Wisconsin; Thomas D. O'Brien, of Minnesota; J. L. Pierce, of Nebraska, and Kean E. Folk, of Tennessee.

Representatives of the companies are also heard by the Legislature. This annual accounting will be worth much to policy holders and for this legislation credit is due to the Commissioners of the States.

Scourms Steel Demand.

The demand for raw material used in the manufacture of steel is so great that all records in imports of iron ore were eclipsed last month when nearly 106,000 tons arrived in New York and other Eastern ports.

While more than one-half of the January imports of ore came from Cuban mines. Considerable imports are being made from Persia, Spain and Greece.

Imports last month make the total 140,624 tons. From Cuba came 60,840 tons of ore. From Spain 32,306 tons of ore were shipped. From Greece 14,750 tons were imported. Of manganese ore 10,400 tons came from Bombay, India. The chrome ore, 2,440 tons, came from New Caledonia. From Europe last month came 4,175 tons of structural steel and other finished material. Antwerp sending 1,425 tons of the structural steel. From Fliley's Island, located off Newfoundland, 2,619 tons of iron pyrites were shipped here. The pig iron imports aggregated 15,049 tons and came chiefly from England.

Cough and colds, down to the very borderland of consumption, yield to the soothing, healing influences of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Purchase of Islands Advocated By Japanese.

The Yordao Hocho says the Philippines have cost the United States much money and that no substantial advantages have been secured, and that Japan could meet with more success, as America has failed because of racial difference between the ruler and ruled and the long distance which separates the Government and the Islands.

It may be that the farmer has to start with scrub live stock. But even the scrub can be improved by regularly selecting the best and using no other for purposes of increase. Indeed this is how all improvement was made at first, and how all our breeds have been formed.

An old farmer with all this in mind, exercises himself as he follows: "Too much care can not be exercised to select thoroughly healthy and vigorous animals for breeding purposes. We operate for disease whenever unsound animals are thus employed by us, or when we subject pregnant animals to cruelty in any form. Too much care cannot be taken to avoid all conditions which will injure or excite the pregnant animals, as such conditions have a very serious effect on their offspring."

"Sometimes a crippled animal may be good for breeding purposes, when it has been thus injured accidentally; but when the trouble arises from disease that is hereditary, the animal should be discarded entirely for purposes of increase."

"In the horse, more than in any other animal, perhaps, are the diseases of the sire and dam apparent in the offspring. For this reason, a lame or blind horse should never be allowed to breed, unless the trouble can be traced to an accident. If a cow has any defect in her udder, the same defect is very often manifested in her very calves; such calves should always be sold to the butcher."

It is more than likely that many old farmers know about these things. There are young farmers ever appearing, who may not know. We tell the story for them.

PRESENTS TO BRIDE.

Some Donors "Flashed" for Invitations.

Few brides not of so-called royal birth ever have been the recipients of so many and such valuable gifts as were received by Miss Roosevelt. The bride and the members of her family were almost overwhelmed by the number and character of the presents.

It was Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt's desire that the wedding, so far as the presents were concerned, should be stripped of official character.

It was the desire of the President that no gifts should be made to Miss Roosevelt on behalf of foreign governments; that presents of such nature properly could be received only from the executives of the governments through the Ambassadors or Ministers accredited to the American Government. The only present therefore, which comes directly from a nation is that of the Cuban republic.

Two game roosters and a fat Berkshire pig came from the rural admirers of Miss Alice.

Presents came from people of whom she never had heard, who followed the gifts immediately with requests for invitations to the wedding. Those sent with the idea thereby of obtaining an invitation to the wedding were returned instantly.

Many of the gifts are almost regal in their splendor. The gifts numbered nearly a thousand.

There are necklaces, brooches, rings, bracelets, fans of unique designs, clocks, watches, vases, loving-cups, punch-bowls, pictures, rare laces, exquisite silks and embroideries from the Orient, delicate carvings in ivory and the precious metals, hand-ome rugs and tapestries, rare silver and china table service.

President Loubet of France—A magnificent gobelin tapestry, made expressly for the bride, portrays scenes renewed in the history of France.

Ambassador Jusserand and Mme Jusserand of France an exquisite fan of white ostrich plumes set on tortoise shell sticks, and bearing a monogram of Miss Roosevelt's initials in gold.

The Emperor of Japan—Two beautifully chased vases of silver and a piece of wonderful Japanese embroidery. The latter is a piece of silk eight feet square, embroidered with chrysanthemums done in white silk on gold.

Republic of Cuba—A splendid necklace of selected pearls, made in Paris on the order of the Cuban Government cost $25,000.

The Empress Dowager of China—A handsomely made dowry chest filled completely with rare gifts of silks, embroideries, ivory carvings and lovely bric-a-brac.

Pope Pius X—A handsome mosaic.

King Edward VII. of England sent a gift but the character has not been disclosed.

FLORAL OFFERINGS.
Mr. Takahira, formerly Minister of Japan, called directions that a handsome floral offering be made to the bride.

The Minister of Sweden presented an exquisite vase which he purchased in Paris; Baron Monseur the Belgian Minister, a piece of handsome bric-a-brac; Minister Quesada and wife, of Cuba, a set of eight pieces of silverware lined with gold and bearing the initials of the bride.

The Ambassador of Austria and wife sent a handsome jewel consisting of a great sapphire and selected diamonds.

The Ambassador of Germany and wife presented an exquisite set of Dresden china plates, bearing the bride's initials in the monogram.

Secretary and Mrs. Bonaparte, a handsome piece de milieu of repousse silver. In the center several fanciful figures have been wrought.

Secretary and Mrs. Shaw, a chocolate set of rare Worcester ware laid with silver, and Attorney General Moody a pair of silver candle sticks, elegantly chased and of beautiful design.

The Taft Philippine party, those who with Miss Roosevelt made the trip last summer to the Orient, gave a necklace of gold with the alternate links studded with diamonds, bearing a magnificent aquamarine pendant surrounded with diamonds. The aquamarine pendant is a stone of remarkable size and color costing $1,500 unmounted.

Mr. Longworth's associates in Congress united in the presentation to the bride of three beautiful presents. The New York delegation gave an exquisite service of fever glass, each piece having the peacock eye in its center and no two pieces being of the same hue. The service consists of five dozen wine glasses, finger bowls and plates. The Ohio delegation gave a heavy silver loving cup. It is more than two feet in height and festoons of roses in repousse work around the top and bottom.

The House Committee on Foreign Affairs, of which Mr. Longworth is a member, gave a loving cup of silver, beautifully chased and lined with gold.

Fans were a favorable article of presentation.

The gift of Mr. Longworth to his bride was a necklace of selected diamonds. This was probably, intrinsically the most valuable gift received by Miss Roosevelt.

Taken To Frankfort.

Betty Fitchman, sentenced to serve ninety-nine years for the murder of Louis Mays in Lee county, and John D. Turner, under a twenty-one year sentence for the murder of Irvine Allen in Breathitt county, were taken to the penitentiary at Frankfort on Wednesday.

W. C. Price, of Danville, has gone into print declaring the tax on dogs should have been fixed at $3 instead of $1.

PURE FOOD BILL

Passes Senate By Big Majority, Prohibits Trade in Adulterated Goods Between The States.

After fifteen years of more or less careful consideration of the subject the U S Senate on Wednesday passed the pure food bill by a vote of 83 to 4. It now goes to the House.

The bill makes it a misdemeanor to manufacture or sell adulterated or misbranded foods, drugs, medicines or liquors in the District of Columbia, the territories and insular possessions of the United States, and prohibits the shipment of such goods from one State to another or to a foreign country, and also prohibits the receipts of such goods.

Punishment by a fine of $500 or by imprisonment for one year or both is prescribed. In the case of corporations the officials in charge are made responsible.

The bill also defines foods, drugs, medicines and liquors, and also prescribes standards for them. There is an exemption of dealers who furnish guarantees against adulteration and rebranding.

Susan B. Anthony.

Age 86 (Feb. 5); born in Massachusetts.

Taught school from age of 15.

At thirty was a temperance lecturer.

Aiding in organizing the first woman's Temperance society.

Began a great campaign in Kansas in 1867 with Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucy Stone.

Fined $100 for violating in a New York Congressional election in 1873. The fine was never collected.

With Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Matilda Gage wrote "The History of Woman Suffrage."

Has taken part in eight different state campaigns for a constitutional amendment enfranchising women.

Has been granted a hearing before committees of Congress annually since 1869.

Has lectured all over the United States and in England.

Has been a prolific magazine contributor.

Now and Then.

Some thorough and careful physician invents in his practice, some special medicine, that proves so universally successful whenever prescribed, that he proceeds to place it before the public to be reached through the newspapers. This is the history of Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin. For years, prescribed by W. B. Caldwell for constipation, and all disorders of liver, stomach and bowels, it was at last manufactured on a large scale, and is now the most successful medicine in the world for these diseases. A pure, scientific tonic, laxative, syrup; pleasant to take and perfect in results. Try it. Sold by W. S. Lloyd at 50c, and $1. Money back if it fails.

Some Kentucky Men

It has been the habit of some writers to boast of Kentucky's fine whiskey, fast horses and pretty women. In a recent letter Savoyard takes the Kentucky men of ye olden times as his theme, and of their achievements says:

"Kentuckians, under George Rogers Clark, moved the boundary of the United States from the Ohio river to the great Lakes."

"It was a Kentucky statesman—John Breckinridge—who was the real author of the Louisiana purchase."

"Kentucky made the War of 1812, and did more than her share of the fighting of it."

"Kentucky was the first State to establish common schools and support them by a tax on all the property of the State."

"Kentucky secured the free navigation of the Mississippi river. Kentucky gave more soldiers to the Texas revolution than any other State."

"Kentucky furnished more soldiers for the Mexican war than any other State."

"The first steamboat ever launched in the world was the work of a Kentuckian—John Fitch."

"Audubon lived in Kentucky; so did Alexander Campbell."

"Joel T Hart was a Kentuckian as well as America's greatest sculptor. Jewett was a Kentuckian, as well as America's greatest portrait painter."

Thomas F. Marshall and Richard Menefee were Kentuckians as well as the finest raters of a generation of orators.

"George Robertson, a Kentucky jurist, gave more suggestions to the judiciary at Westminster than any other American judge."

"Dr. Brashear, of Kentucky, performed the first successful hip-joint operation. These two feats astonished the medical colleges of Edinburgh, Paris and Berlin."

"John A. Broadus was the most erudite Hebrew scholar of all America."

"Spalding's history of the Catholic Church stamps him as the equal of any American who has written history."

"There are more churches and more church members in Kentucky according to population, than in any other State, and fewer suits for seduction, slander and libel."

"Kentucky contributed Lincoln to the North and gave Davis to the South. She was on both sides of that war and is proud of it, though a little prouder of the rebel side than the other."

At Frankfort an effort is being made to attach another county to the Ninth Congressional District. In order, it is alleged, to make the district safely Democratic. Elliott was suggested, but the tenth district refuses to part with her. Pendleton has been mentioned, but she, too, shakes her curls. The Democrats of the Ninth District have nothing to fear if they behave themselves, and no additional county could insure victory if the Democrats are not on their good behavior. Adding a county is a poor way to win at best. If our cause is right and the men are honestly nominated, we will win. Let us alone.—Cynthiana Democrat

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR CONGRESS

We are authorized to announce Judge John E. Cooper, of the county of Montgomery, a candidate for Congress subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR CONGRESS

We are authorized to announce Judge H. C. Miller as a candidate for Congress in the Tenth District, subject to the action of the Republican party, in nomination or otherwise.

Poultry raising is beginning to be a great business in Montgomery county.

Keep up with what ever transpires in and around Montgomery county by reading the Advocate. It costs only $1. per year.

Always make a stranger feel at home when within the walls of your city. Influence never fails to count for something.

If Congress would enact a law making flogging a penitentiary of fense the chances are that after a few college bred boys received long terms behind the bars this dangerous practice would stop. And these are our sentiments to a dot.

If every man in Mt. Sterling would pull one way much could be accomplished. Saloons could be voted out, a new opera house built, cigar factory established, hange factory be put in operation, etc. etc.

MUNICIPAL REFORM.

In Pittsburg the Republicans were defeated by over 6,000 Voters in favor of reform did it. Such Republicanism is good. The Gazette of our city says:

"Our own fair Louisville is about the only city remaining in the grasp of ringsters and grafters."

The reputation of Louisville is very unsavory, and we hope something will happen.

Republicans are watching the action of Democrats on the County Unit Measure, and because it has a large following in the State, promise, should it meet with defeat, to incorporate the measure, with a party pledge, in their platform in the coming State election.

If Republicans are sincere in their promises to friends of the measure why is it that their advocacy of the bill has not been more pronounced? It appears to a reasoning man that they are casting about hoping to ride into power on the mistakes of others and upon their own insincerity.

IMPORTANT TO MT. STERLING.

Louisville is growing rapidly for the reason that her advantages are published to the people away, and if this city of great proportions is continuously advertised and there is a necessity for it, much greater than the necessity for bringing the advantages possessed by Mt. Sterling before the people. Louisville pays men to give facts and to offer such inducements as are consistent and what her people offer. Mt. Sterling would do well to employ a man who would have similar duties.

A Carnegie has given $10,000 for a library at Somerset Ky to be under control of the city school.

Dr. J. L. Weber of Winchester has announced that he will retire from the Presidency of Kentucky Wesleyan College in June.

PAROLE FOR JOHN FAY.

In this issue is a paid notice signed by John Fay, in which he gives notice that he will apply to the Kentucky Board of Pardon Commissioners for release.

We are not surprised that he desires and seeks release from prison, and we do not criticize him for his action.

To this petition we will make our protest. As a citizen who has regard for decency, the good name of our community, the supremacy and enforcement of law, the protection of honor and virtue, we thus publicly express the hope that said application will be turned down.

The best interests of our town demand that he remain where he is. Personally we are not acquainted with Mr. Fay, but have seen him and know something by report of his disreputable life, and defiance of the safeguards and deencies of respectable society.

We hope that men in this town who are identified with the moral and spiritual interests of the town will see to it that objection is filed with the Commissioners who consider his application.

We have been unable to learn the exact date upon which the Board of Prison Commissioners will meet, but believing them to be fair men, we feel sure the decent element of our citizenship will be given an opportunity to be heard.

Under the rules governing the paroling of convicts, a petition must be signed "by not less than fifty reputable citizens, including ministers of the gospel, lawyers, physicians, bankers, merchants and farmers residing in the county, town or city in which the crime was committed."

In order that the people of this community may know who those reputable citizens are, we will make an effort to procure the petition for publication.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found a notice from our vigilant County Attorney, Mr. C. F. Thomas, and we earnestly call upon all good citizens to aid him in preventing this miscarriage of justice.

Men often sign petitions without thinking, and if the petition asking for his release is signed by fifty reputable citizens, they must certainly have signed it without giving the matter proper consideration. If so, they should have their names stricken from it at once.

Notice

To all whom it may concern:

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, John Fay, is applying and will apply to the Kentucky Board of Prison Commissioners at their March session for a parole for himself; the said Fay now being confined in the Kentucky State Penitentiary under an indictment and judgment of the Montgomery Circuit Court, charged with the offense of setting up and operating a game of chance.

JOHN FAY.

To The Public.

Notice has just been served on me by John Fay, through his attorney, R. A. Chiles, that an application will be made, at the next meeting of the Board of Prison Commissioners, for parole.

In order to ascertain the wishes of the people, I publish this notice. If they object to his release, a protest should be filed at once.

County Attorney

Missions Destroyed

The U. S. Consul at Shanghai, China cabled on Monday that the American mission Stations at Nanchang had been destroyed. The American missionaries escaped but Mr and Mrs Kingham and two children, English, were killed.

France and Germany are fixing for a fight.

Reasons for the Plumes on the Left Side and Buttons on the Chest. Read by Lecturer.

Wilfred Webb, at a meeting of the Windsor and Eaton Scientific and Archaeological Society in London, recently spoke interestingly of the evolution of dress.

From prehistoric drawings it would appear, he said, that our early ancestors were clothed with hair and had little necessity for artificial covering. Judging from primitive races at the present day, clothing was not first adopted as a protection from the weather.

Just as the zoologist learns much concerning the ancestry of animals from the little features which survive in their bodily structure, so can the history of dress be evolved. Starting with the hat, it was shown that the hat has been traced to a fillet which held in shape a simple piece of cloth. Sometimes this fillet was tied in a bow behind, the tails of which survive in the Scotch cap, the sailor hat and the bishop's mitre.

A little how inside the lining of the hat is the survival of a lacing which kept the lining in shape, or possibly taken us back to a time when a hat was made by putting a string through holes in a flat piece of leather, and, by tightening it, producing a crown. The plumes in hats are on the left side because in early times the adornments were so big that they would have seriously interfered with the use of the sword if worn on the right. The helmet of the fireman is practically identical with those worn by the ancient Greeks.

The large white collar, such as Milton wore, is still in a smaller form worn by the clergymen who preach in Geneva gowns and by Bluecoat boys. Buttons on coat sleeves point to a time when coats were very costly, and it was customary to turn back the sleeves so that they should not be soiled.

Mr. Webb also discussed the origin of the two buttons on the back of the coat, and said he could find no satisfactory reason why in European countries the buttons on men's clothes should be always on the right side and those of the women on the left.

The possible connection between the ornamentation on modern boots and the open-work shoes of the Romans was pointed out. The fact that a "clock" means a "gusset" suggested that the ornamentation which we know by the former name may have been originally intended to hide the joints in a stocking when it was made from pieces of cloth.

MOONSTROKE—SEA DANGER

"People laugh at moonstrokes," said a sailor. "They call them shellbacks' superstition. I once had a moonstroke, though, and I tell you it was no laughing matter.

"In a full moon, one night in the tropics, I fell asleep on deck. The moon shone directly on me. I lay in a white pool of moonlight. So three hours went by.

"Then, when they woke me, I felt like a man in a dream. My mouth hung open, as it does when I sleep, and I couldn't close it, and my head lay over on the side and I couldn't straighten it up.

"Nor could I understand what people said to me, nor could I obey orders. Voices I'd hear far away, but they seemed meaningless, unpleasant. I was very drowsy. All I wanted was sleep.

"They worked on me for two days, rubbing me down with castor oil, before they brought me round. And always, after that, I have been careful never to sleep where the moon's rays could get at me. My moonstroke happened eight years ago, but still at every full moon I am stupid and drowsy, my head droops a little to one side and my mouth tends to hang open.

"There's many a sailor has been moonstruck; but this accident never befalls landmen. Landmen, you see, never sleep out of doors."

Hall Will Succeed Himself.

"It is practically settled that Ben W. Hall will succeed himself as Postmaster at Mt. Sterling. This was the result reached in a conference of the "powers that be" held in Washington City. In the face of the ruling of the Department to reappoint all Postmasters whose records were good, it was apparent to some others who desired the place that an effort to displace Mr. Hall would be fruitless, consequently they declined to file their applications, gracefully withdrew from the contest and endorsed Mr. Hall"—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

We think Mt. Sterling is a place of sufficient importance for some change on the part of the postal authorities at Washington to allow Mr. Hall to give the patrons more prompt service in the delivery of mail. It seems to us that the general delivery should be open, say from 7 o'clock in the morning until the hour of closing for supper, instead of being closed indefinitely after hour of arrival of early train from east, and after each mail from Sharpsburg, Rothwell, North Middletown, Lexington, Ashland or other cities.

Many people do not like to stand for an hour waiting to buy stamps or get mail which they see in their boxes. Perhaps these same persons en route from their home to places of business can not conveniently return at 8 to 8:30 o'clock.

The opening of postoffice after 7:05 p. m. train arrives is quite acceptable. Even if general delivery is open during entire day the crowd and smoky condition of the lobby might not be avoided.

That jam and mess is a sight and we hope Mr. Hall will be permitted to somewhat change conditions.

D B Henderson of Iowa ex-Speaker of Congress, died on Sunday.

Young Man Killed By Cars.

On Sunday afternoon at Salt Lick a young man named Lewis aged about 22 swang on a freight train at the depot in Salt Lick to ride up the street. When he jumped off he lost his balance, rolled under the train and was terribly crushed by two cars passing over him. He soon died.

Haggin and Keene Protest Against Assessments in Bluegrass.

Near Lexington James B. Haggin and James R. Keene, two of the Eastern millionaires who have thoroughbred horse breeding establishments, have filed protest against the assessments of their property for taxation which have been fixed by Tax Supervisors.

Mr. Haggin, filed a protest before County Judge Bullock of the assessment on the 3,276 acres of land which comprises his Elmendorf stock farm. Most of the land is assessed at $8 to $100; 554 acres at $164 and 275 acres at $837.27.

Mr. Keene protests against the valuation of 147 brood mares at $150 each, and 5 stallions at $3,780 each. They claim the prices are comparatively too high.

Shipment of Liquor C. O. D.

Representative John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, spoke before the House Committee on Judiciary today in support of a bill to prevent the C. O. D. shipment of liquor into local option districts. He said this method of shipping liquor enabled the "blind tigers" to thrive, and many communities in Mississippi were much incensed over the encouragement of unlawful liquor traffic. Mr. Williams said he was not a radical prohibitionist, but believes where communities had decided on local option the United States should not stand in a position of assisting the law breakers by permitting C. O. D. shipments into such districts. He said he had no thought of interfering with the right of the individual to buy liquor and have it shipped whenever they pleased, but desires that the wholesale shipments of liquor C. O. D. to fictitious persons be stopped.

That account that has been brought to your attention since January 1 is worth 6% to us. Will appreciate your immediate attention.

An Incident with a Surprise at the End for One Small Girl

It is not only fine ladies in fur and fine but feeble old gentlemen in broadcloth that the policeman pilots safely across the street. He makes way there as well for cripples, countrymen and children, in fact for all who need his help and protection, says the New York Sun.

So there was seen the other day, a tall, calm policeman conveying across Broadway two small children who had been out gathering refuse wood which they were now carrying home for firewood. One of them, a girl of perhaps 12, wore a little old-fashioned shawl and had balanced on her head a bundle as big around as her own body and as long. The other, a boy of nine, carried on his head a bundle of wood likewise as big as himself.

The two came up together, but with the girl as leader, to the big policeman standing on the corner, and he, with no delay at all, but with quite as much attention as he would have shown to anyone, started on with them across the street, holding up a warning hand to drivers, where that was needed, as he went. Probably there could come to his post nobody who would have shown to anyone, the big policeman would give kinder and safer care than he did to these two small children carrying the big bundles of wood.

But to some of the passersby the sight of the policeman escorting the two little wood gatherers over so was at least something out of the usual, and a little knot of people, men, women and children out with their mother shopping, gathered on either side of the street to see the incident through.

Close by one of these corners, standing by the curb in the intersecting street, was the handsome and trimly-saddled horse of a mounted policeman, his rider being at that moment dismounted and standing in the street a few feet away, looking after the traffic there.

This horse seemed to become interested in a little girl that was standing there with her mother, and very quietly he moved forward, close to her. And when the policeman on the crossing had finally put the children over and had started back himself, and the people who had been watching him faced around to start on this little girl found the handsome police horse standing there looking at her and with his nose all but touching her coat sleeve.

She certainly was a little startled, but she wasn't scared, and she was pleased, and she stepped back closer to her mother and looked up at her and smiled, and the mother smiled at the little girl and then at the horse, and the two went on together, still smiling, and still quite wrought up over this—for them—quite unexpected ending of the incident.

But there are things happening in Broadway all the time, and even the little things may be interesting.

PRESENTATION AT COURT.

Correct Dress Is Absolutely Necessary When Brought Before King of England.

A crowd had assembled to see us start, relates Harper's Bazar. I fondly imagined it was an amusing crowd; but I soon knew better. Eventually we entered St. James' Park and fell into line among the miles of carriages that stretched along the broad street known as the Mall, which leads up to the palace. Here, too, crowds were assembled, and for over an hour we were entirely at the mercy of the people who gazed in at the windows and criticized us most cruelly, considering our entire helplessness. Indeed, we were not sorry when our carriage dashed through the gates of the palace and drew up before the main entrance.

To my terror we were invited into a side room where the royal dressers inspected us as a last precaution. We passed muster, fortunately, and then trooped with the crowd up the grand staircase. Half way up we passed one of the queen's pages, who took from me one of my pink cards, at the same time shooting a keen glance at me to see if I were dressed "according to regulations."

Hargis, Cass, Han, French And Others Indicted For Murder Of J. B. Marcum.

On Saturday at Jackson Ky. the grand jury returned indictments against James Hargis, Ed Callahan, B. F. French, Jno Smith, and Jno Abner charging them with the murder of J. B. Marcum. The first two were principals; the last three were accessories before the fact. The jury signed a statement that the proof was not sufficient to justify an indictment against Alex Hargis.

STATISTICS OF CREMATION

United States Has More Crematories Than Any Other Country, There Being Twenty-Six.

The United States has more crematories than any other country, there being 26, 24 of which are in operation. A large number of persons are cremated here every year than anywhere else. In Canada, in spite of the objections made by the Roman Catholic clergy, there has been a crematory built at Montreal by the government.

There are seven crematories in Germany. A petition was recently signed by 3,000 medical men and presented to the reichstag, with a view to making crematory compulsory for those who have died with infectious diseases. England has the same number of crematories. Italy possesses 22, but statistics as to the number of people cremated are lacking. Switzerland has three, Sweden two and Denmark one. In Austria societies for the promotion of cremation have been formed and branches exist in many of the towns, but the practice of cremation has not yet been legalized. In Madrid the right of cremation has been conferred by royal decree, while even in Russia, in spite of the protestations of the Holy Synod, the government proposes to issue a decree in favor of making cremation optional. In France a large crematory has been built in the far famed cemetery of Pere la Chaise, in which since its opening 2,290 bodies have been reduced to ashes.

Worse Than Madness.

Ben Franklin Holds This Distinction: American Actor—Hatter—Actor Had Many Sticks.

Ben Franklin was the first of our great "self-made" men—the greatest example, in his day, of a rise from obscurity to wealth and position. He owed his success entirely to his own efforts. His parents were people of little ambition, with means enough for a modest living, but insufficient to give him the education that had been planned for him. None of his ancestors had succeeded in more than a humble way, relates Homer Whitfield, in Success.

When he landed in Philadelphia, a mere boy, he had only one dollar and a few pence over; at the time of his death he was easily the most prominent man in America, as well as one of the richest. Indeed, he stands as the very greatest of all the multitudes of Americans who have risen from nothing to greatness. Our modern "self-made" men have, as a rule, succeeded along the single line of money, scholarship, or science. Rarely has the first been accompanied by any one of the latter. Franklin stood at the top in all. At the age of 42, without college training, he had become a man of position and means. He was always a scholar, and his attainments were honored by degrees from Scottish and American universities, as a scientist, his fame extended to every country. Besides, he had some opinions on medicine which were not unworthy of consideration, and he even made a considerable study of scientific agriculture. He was the most many-sided man in all our public life.

As a business man he had one failing—a lack of order and method. He himself complains that he never could learn to keep things in their places or arrange any system. This was one of the complaints made against his work as an ambassador in France. It would possibly have meant his failure in the involved maze of present-day business. But he had the ability to see and grasp an opportunity, and his enterprises became finally almost of the manifold nature of a modern department store. In addition to his printing shop, which was the main object of his attention, he sold books, imported many from Europe, published books and tracts, and conducted a stationery store, besides editing and publishing his own writings, and even sold groceries, feathers, and junk of various kinds. Some of the various lines that he handled included medicine, toilet articles, clothing, vehicles, lottery tickets, mariner's compasses and rags. In connection with his trade in the latter article he established a small mill and manufactured paper. It is also recorded that he bought and sold negro slaves and carried on a considerable trade in taking up and disposing of the terms of indentured servants. As a side issue, he invested in real estate and bought a farm of 300 acres near Burlington, N. J., which he worked carefully.

Search-Lights in the Sea.

Among the deep sea crustaceans of the group Euphausiids, says M. Maurice Caullery, of the French Association for the Advancement of Science, there are many species possessing luminous organs, which irresistibly remind the observer of the lanterns of automobiles projecting their rays into the night. Upon examining the structure of some of these organs, it is found that they consist of a kind of spherical reflector, backed by a screen of red pigment. The light issues from a phosphorescent tissue in front of the reflecting surface, is concentrated by a lens of transparent substance, and finally is sent forth in the form of a beam from the reflecting surface. The apparatus is mobile and the rays can be sent out in all directions, illuminating the path of these strange creatures through the abyssal darkness.

No Difference.
"What is the difference between a bar in the river and a bar on shore?" asked the maker of silly conundrums.
"There is no difference," answered the steamboat captain. "Water is scarce at both places."

He Was Bored.

The Hon. J. E. Garner, of Winchester, in his Louisville Board of Trade speech, told a preacher story. A minister, after a long sermon, asked all of the Board to remain after the service. A stranger remained, and the minister went to him and said: "This is a meeting of the Board. You probably did not understand my announcement." "Yes I did," replied the stranger, "none of them were bored worse than I was."

Arrested.

W P Wiley recently superintendent of the Singer Sewing machine Co in Mt Sterling district and located here, was arrested in Lexington on Friday for misuse of the firm's money. He was brought to this city on Saturday and lodged in jail. His case was called on Tuesday morning, but was continued until March 13. No testimony was brought out. He had misappropriated money said to amount to $700. In one case he sold a machine for cash, then drew up a forged mortgage and presented it to the company.

The Weather—How'd You Like It?

For the benefit of people not living in Kentucky we will say that during February the weather has been remarkably fine, generally bright and at times at 6 A M the thermometer has ranged from 30 to 50. On Monday morning we, for the first time heard a robin sing. Early flowers had made considerable growth, and everything it seems has been favorable to the farmer. On Monday evening the elements began to indicate a change. On Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock the snow of the winter, about 7 inches, had fallen, and is still falling.

In the Courier Journal contest in the 18th district, Miss Esther Wilson has 17,546 votes and Miss Florence Knight 13,569, Miss Hattie Stevens 12,419.

Mrs Wm Ramsey of Thompson has rented her farm of 100 acres to J H Hammonds for $550, and the residence and ten acres to Jno L Williams of Winchester.

Dr A B Wall Dies Suddenly.

On Tuesday morning Feb 20, 06 at his home in Mayville Ky Dr A B Wall, while eating Breakfast was stricken with heart failure and died in a few minutes. He was 96 years old and was a courteous and dignified old gentleman. He has frequently visited his daughter Mrs Louis Apperson of our city. He was the oldest confederate in Kentucky, was surgeon of Gane's regiment in Morgan's brigade.

Since the death of his wife 98 in, he has lived with his son.

Bob Taylor's Magazine for March comes to us richly laden. Governor Taylor's Sunshine and Moon shine editorials abound in happy epigrams, witticisms and lofty thoughts. A tribute to the worth and ability of Gen Luke E Wright forms the leading editorial. This issue contains the last installment of the popular "Fiddle and Bow" lecture which will be followed by "The Paradise of Fools."

Jno W Jones has moved his stock of Jewelry to room vacated by Allen Frewitt.

Tobacco.

At Louisville the market for Burley tobacco was fairly active during the week. The dark market had a firm undertone. Receipts of leaf tobacco continue liberal and the market seems in a pretty good position.

The new Burley offered showed no improvement in quality. Bright lugs and leaf were very strong the early part of the week, but later sold off 1 @ 14c on the pound. Bright desirable trashes, however, ruled firm throughout the week, but the common color grades were easier.

Fall of Promise.

The Wolfe county oil field is turning out a rapidly increasing production. For a single division that field will be the most important in Kentucky this summer. Two producers in the Campton development furnished an average production of 30 barrels. One other does about twenty barrels daily.

Legacies.

Mrs Susan Lees who gave $40,000 to Central University, also gave Mrs J C Hunter of Harrodsburg and the wife of Rev Morris Walker of Mayville each $15,000, General Assembly of Southern Presbyterian Church for missions and invalid preachers $40,000, and for old and poor Confederate soldiers $60,000.

Did You Ever Hear The Like?

A country exchange has this to say about printing all the news: "A man stopped us on the street the other day and said we did not publish all the news. We should say not. In the first place, there's somebody else depending on us for a living. If we published all that happened we would be with the angels. In order to please the people we must print only the nice things said of them and leave the rest to gossip. Yes, it's a fact, we don't print all the news. If we did, wouldn't it be a spy reading? But it would be for one week only. The next week you would read our obituary, and there would be a new face in heaven. All the news is all right when it is about the other fellow."

Mr Mt. Sterling editor has reason to be glad for printing the news. They do not print enough of the right kind of news.

COUNTY UNIT BILL.

The Senate Adopts a Substitute for the Cammack Bill.

On Friday in the Senate a bill was introduced and adopted, which replaces an act upon which the local option law is based. In this they were aided by some men who had formerly supported the Cammack bill. The chief feature of the substitute is that the cities and towns of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th classes form a unit in themselves and the country districts outside of the towns form a separate unit, and in the counties having towns of 6th class the entire county forms a unit. This substitute was strongly opposed by Senator Cammack, other temperance advocates and the Anti Saloon League. Telegrams were sent to many towns and on Sunday many congregations passed resolutions urging the House to reject the substitute and insist on the adoption of the original Cammack bill, which makes the entire county the unit and holds all territory that is now under local option law.

Announcement was made in churches in this city, and on Sunday afternoon at the Baptist Church a mass meeting was held. A committee was appointed who prepared resolutions to be forwarded to Frankfort to representative Clay and the clerk of the House, urging the rejection of the substitute and the adoption of the original Cammack bill. A copy was presented to Senator Ecton.

R M Trimble went to Frankfort on Monday morning in the interests of the Cammack bill and to learn of the surroundings.

C. O. D. Cut Off.

"The C. O. D. whiskey business is a thing of the past in Louisa. The whiskey people found out they were up against it and stopped the shipment of the whiskey. This is good news to our people as the C. O. D. business has been the cause of much trouble in the Sandy Valley for the past year."—Sandy Valley Courier.

We have traveled in the Sandy Valley and know something of the efforts of whiskey men to thwart the provisions of law and spread wreck and ruin for the money they can get.

TOAILING WOMEN.

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Mt Sterling

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the urine when the kidneys are well are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder get inflamed and swollen, crowding the delicate female organs nearby and sometimes displacing them. This is the true cause of many bearing-down pains, lameness, backache, sideache, and etc. Uric poisoning also causes headache, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pains.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that cures sick kidneys. You will get better as the kidneys get better, and health will return when the kidneys are well. Let a Mt. Sterling woman tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Mary Kelley, wife of Peter Kelley, farmer, living just outside the city limits on the Winchester pike, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills so beneficial and positive in their results that I am compelled to place great faith in them. I was troubled to quite an extent and with a complication of kidney troubles. The symptoms were so marked as to leave no possibility of doubt in my mind as to what kind of medicine I required so on noticing some testimonials of the strongest kind endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills my husband procured a box for me at F. C. Duerson's drug store. On taking them I was convinced that the advertised statements concerning Doan's Kidney Pills were nothing short of the truth, for this good preparation absolutely performed what it promised. I can speak positively about the results obtained and will be only too pleased to give minute particulars to any lady who wishes them. My husband also used Doan's Kidney Pills and found the results entirely satisfactory."
